AUTHORITY RATE REVIEW

CASE NO.: NEPR-AP-2023-0003

SUBJECT: Hearing Examiner's Order on
Evidentiary Obligations and Admissibility

Hearing Examiner's Order on Evidentiary Obligations and Admissibility

LUMA accompanies its discovery responses with this language:

LUMA files this discovery response without in any way implying that it considers this response is relevant or could be admissible as evidence in this rate review proceeding. LUMA expressly reserves the right to supplement, clarify, revise, or correct this response.

I am having trouble understanding what purpose this sentence serves. I have never seen anything like it. I have two reactions:

- The first sentence is superfluous. The standard for discovery is not "admissible evidence" but "could lead to admissible evidence." So by definition, no discovery response has the halo of admissibility.
- What a responding party has is not a "right" to "supplement, clarify, revise, or correct a response" but an obligation to do so. That obligation, triggered by the first ROI LUMA received, continues until this proceeding ends.

To evaluate $5 billion in five weeks, we need to minimize unnecessary lawyer-speak. I therefore will receive and rule on all objections to prefiled testimony well before the hearing. The revised procedural schedule will have the necessary dates.

Be notified and published.
